

The Open Door Bookstore & Gift Gallery

128 Jay Street • Schenectady • 518.346.2719

Empty Seats

SATURDAY
APRIL 7
1-2:30 p.m.

Wanda Fischer

signing

Empty Seats

Three strangers met by chance in 1972 with one thing in common: baseball. They want to become major league baseball players. They were star pitchers on the baseball teams in their respective home towns, and baseball is what brought them together to play for a minor-league team in a remote town in western New York.

The book describes their journey – triumphs and tears, challenges and championships – and demonstrates what can happen when young people make split-second decisions that can have lifelong impacts on their lives.

Empty Seats “offers an appealingly honest portrayal of aspiring baseball players.” — KIRKUS REVIEW

Wanda Adams Fischer began following baseball in 1956, when she was just shy of her eighth birthday.